

Wilderness House Literary Review 1/4

The Grand Tour of Europe

In our last issue we were about to set off on a “Grand Tour” of Europe. London is spectacular in its modern architecture and spectacular graffiti.

Paris!

Montmartre Paris!

Art! Art! Art! nothing but Art.

... and great bookstores.

In the Gardens of Luxembourg

If this were rendered in mezzotint you would think it was a timeless painting by Seurat. Some things never change.

As we all know there is magic in a good story.

Checkmate on a Sunday afternoon in the Garden!

Provence at last!

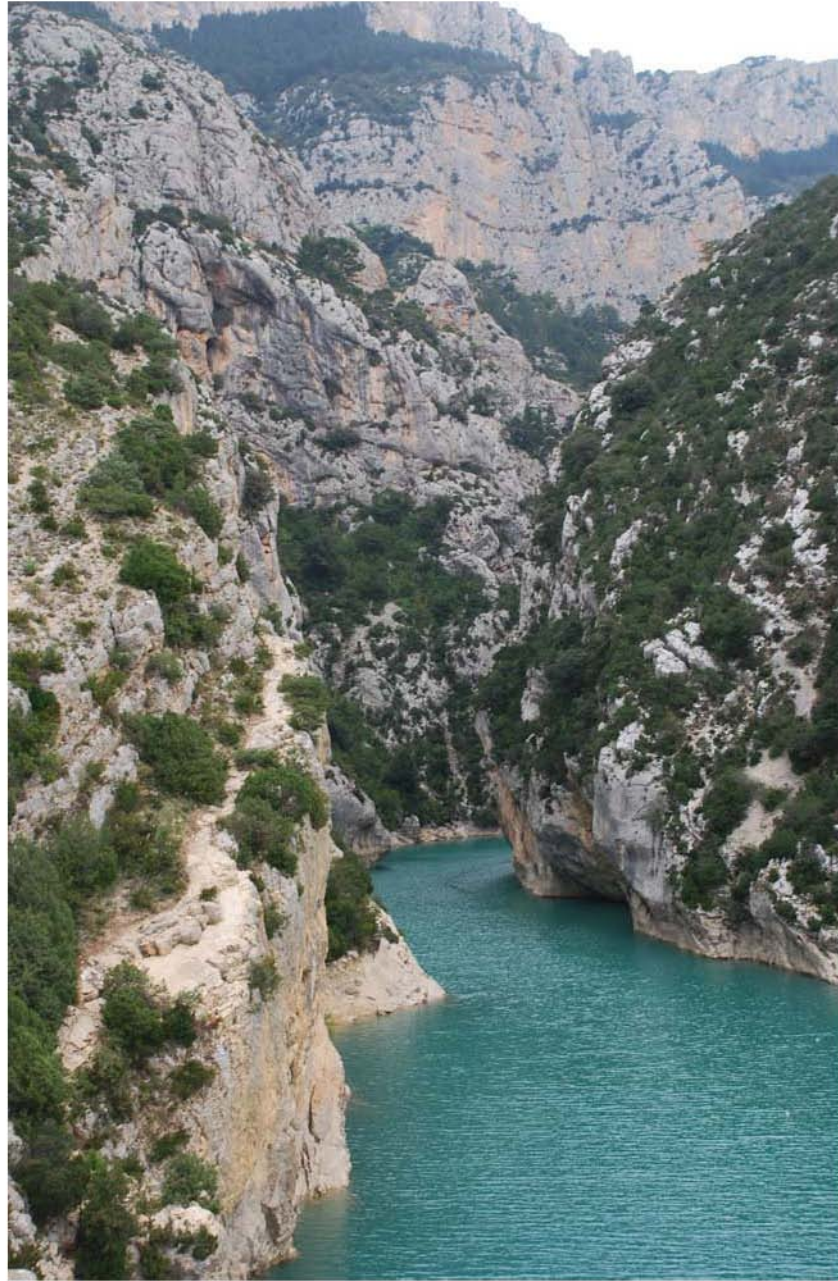

Photos by Steve Glines

We crossed into the Alps region at the Gorges du Verdon.

The Gorges du Verdon is 21 kilometers long and is a unique phenomenon in Europe. The breadth of the Gorge measures from 6 to 100 meters at its base, to between 200 to 1500 meters at the peak of its cliffs.

A town in the Alps and tango dancers in Leon

The harvest in Burgundy

Ah!